Dear [Venue Owner/Manager's Name],

I hope this letter finds you well. At BarkingMad Promotions, we place the utmost importance on the safety and well-being of all our entertainers and performers. As a company working closely with venues like yours, we must collaborate to ensure that visiting performers are afforded the same protections as your staff, particularly regarding safety from harassment, abuse, and any other risks that might arise during performances.

We kindly request the following:

1. Details on Safeguarding Policies:

Could you please provide us with information on the existing safeguarding policies that protect both your staff and any external performers, including how incidents of abuse, harassment, or heckling from patrons are managed?

2. Venue Security Procedures:

What specific security measures are in place to ensure a swift response to disturbances, and how is your team trained to handle incidents involving both performers and patrons? We want to ensure performers are protected throughout their time at your venue.

3. Fire Safety and Accessibility:

We would also appreciate details of your fire safety procedures, particularly any considerations for performers with disabilities, including wheelchair users. Knowing how your venue accommodates disabled acts in terms of evacuation or emergency protocols is vital for us to ensure the safety of all entertainers.

4. Collaboration for Performer Safety:

We are eager to maintain an open and transparent relationship with your venue, prioritising the safety and well-being of both entertainers and venue staff. If you need assistance in developing or updating any of your safety procedures, we would be happy to collaborate on this.

Our entertainers are central to everything we do, and ensuring their safety and protection at your venue is a shared responsibility. We kindly ask that you send over any documentation or details regarding your safeguarding and fire safety procedures to help us better plan and protect our performers.

Thank you for your time and cooperation. I look forward to hearing from you and continuing our work together.

Warm regards,

Mike Barker Founder, BarkingMad Promotions
